American leaders are struggling to cut and/or tax their way through a veritable financial jungle.

A computer assembles these images into a three-dimensional picture.

The Atlanta band owes a lot to the songwriting skills of its leader, Bradford Cox, a talented and visionary musician, also known for his side project Atlas Sound.